Reviewer Comments -2

The research seems up-to-date and interesting in terms of its subject. Although the abstract title is not too long, it is suitable for the purpose.

It was also good that the abstract of this research was in the form of a structured summary. In other words, it would be good to write a summary that includes the purpose, method, data collection tool and summary of the results.

The introduction of the study is not appropriate in terms of literature.

The introduction part of the research is not sufficient in terms of subject area. The bibliographies used are up-to-date. Therefore, the use of new bibliography in the introduction and discussion sections of the research has enriched the research. However, there is no research on problem-based learning at the beginning of the research.

Purpose and sub-objectives were not written at the end of the introduction.

The research method is well written. Quantitative research method was used in the study. It would be better if the experimental research design was used for quantitative studies in the research. Comparison of 19 male and 76 female students creates a reliability problem. Their numbers are too far apart. Giving the findings with only mean values, excluding the experimental method, weakened this research.

Care was taken to write the tables used in the research in the form of APA6 standard.

It was good that the discussion, conclusion, and recommendations sections of the research were written separately.

Reviewer Comments -3

The title shouldn't be more than 12 words. Also, each keyword should be a maximum of 2 words. The University name should not be given in the abstract. Reference notations are not appropriate. All references in the text should be checked. Title 3.2 should be corrected. References should be arranged according to APA standards. Doi or link of each reference should be given
