Your paper entitled A Implementation of Smash Tool Development in Education Sports is a research study without any clear purpose or objective. The author does not make it clear why this research has been done, though the abstract says, "... to discuss students' responses to education in smash volleyball games and the influence of smash aids." But what is the rationale? Secondly, the author claims that it is mixed method research with questionnaire and interview as tools for quantitative and qualitative study respectively. The results section does not properly discuss the findings of both the tools. Please check and revise. The authors are strongly advised to go through the following suggestions and improve the paper.

First and foremost, the paper lacks a good and informative abstract that gives the prior information of the research completed. Abstract is the miniature form of a research paper that provides information about research objectives, rationale, methodology, major findings and implications. Please rewrite your abstract. There are several grammatical errors and repetitions. It does not give any detailed information about the research work completed. Second, the introduction part lacks background information, it lacks the rationale of the research (as there is no problem statement on which the research was based). Please define the research problems (if possible 1 or 2 research questions, RQs) by relating your background information/ introduction with the RQs. The ambiguity is further created by talking about using both questionnaires and interview as data collection techniques without any rationale.

The methodology section, as per the journal template, needs 4 sub sections: Research design, sampling and population, instrument and procedure and Data analysis. Please check author guidelines on the journal webpage. There is no Litt Review section. Please add one to discuss theoretical and empirical studies on the topic of your research which can help support your argument. The definition and theoretical support provide good information to the readers and create a good impact on readers and motivate them to read more about the scale or the research problems/ arguments raised by you.

Another point that distracts attention is the absence of validity and reliability of the questionnaire items, so please add it.. The findings and discussion sections are full of repetition and confusing sentences., please read them thoroughly and remove all erroneous sentences, discrepancies and repetitions, moreover er, this section is very short. You need to examine the findings in the discussion section fully. Please revise and paraphrase the whole paper to remove grammar mistakes, which are present in every section of the paper.

The author has chosen an interesting topic but without the clear objective. What is the rationale of conducting this research? Your introduction lacks the rationale and research objectives. There is no literature review section to understand the empirical state of the topic under study. The authors have randomly mentioned a few definitions in introduction, but they need to be connected as a coherent literature review. It is suggested to add a few latest studies on the subject of research. The paper also requires minor adjustments to follow the journal templates which are as follows:

1. Abstract: divide it into Purpose, Methodology, Findings and Implications for Research and Practice, adding recommendations, limitations, in the end.
2. Introduction: should contain a brief background information about the topic Please check if you can add a statement about rationale, purpose and research objectives along with the eligibility criteria. You may also state that there exists a research/ literature gap. You may also add a similar statement at the end of literature review section.
3. Methodology: The journal format requires the method section to contain Research design, sampling and population, instrument and procedure and Data analysis methods. Please present your data accordingly.
4. Results and Discussion: Results section should contain only the outcomes of the study. Discussion section needs brief references to previous researches.
5. Conclusion, Recommendations and Implications. It must include a brief conclusion of the research completed, limitations, recommendations for future research and implications for research and practice.
6. There are a lot of language, grammar and syntax errors; several places there are Indonesian Words There are also many repetitions of words and phrases e.g., "Student responses are student responses or reactions during learning and after learning" or "Student responses were in the form of responses to the learning process, learning evaluations, and ..." such a scenario occurs when a translation is made and no proofreading done. Please check the whole document.
7. Moreover, a few sentences are short, fragmented and give incomplete meaning, not fit for a good research paper. Please have it checked by a language expert before you resubmit. Such language and grammar (including spelling errors) stand as barriers to understanding.
