CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents conclusion and suggestions to the next researchers related to this study.

5.1 Conclusion

The findings about the English students' perceptions toward the use of Grammarly in writing an undergraduate thesis at Jambi University showed that almost all participants in this study had positive perception toward the use of Grammarly in writing an undergraduate thesis. They perceived that Grammarly is useful for students. It helped them to check their writing and it also provided some features that cover some important aspect such as grammar, spelling, and punctuation. However, it still was found several disadvantages of Grammarly such as the feedback given not always accurate.

5.2 Suggestions

1. For English teacher / lecturer

According to findings, it is suggested for English teacher and lecturer to integrate Grammarly in the process of teaching-learning English because Grammarly is one of the applications that can check the students' grammar. However, there are also some disadvantages of this application. As the researcher said before that Grammarly has limitation particularly for free-version. So, the teacher/lecturer must explain grammar first before asking students to check their writing using Grammarly. Therefore, the teacher/lecturer should consider the advantages and disadvantages of Grammarly in evaluating students' writing.

2. For students

The researcher hopes that students can understand grammar rules through the feedback of Grammarly. Grammarly is a useful online grammar checker to help students to check their writing errors. For the students who are confusing with their grammar error in writing, Grammarly is a recommended application.

3. For future researchers

For the future researchers who are interested in the same topic, the further researcher can conduct similar research with different focus. This research focus on the use of Free-version, a limited service may be experienced by the students. Thus, the future researchers can investigate another version of Grammarly that is Premium-version or other types of academic writing.
