ABSTRACT

Tax Amnesty is the elimination of taxes that should be owed, not subject to tax administration sanctions and criminal sanctions in the field of taxation, by exposing assets and paying ransom. This study aims to evaluate the implementation of Tax Amnesty at the Jambi Telanaipura Pratama Tax Office according to Adam Smith's principles, namely equality, certainty, convenience of payment, and efficiency as well as Law Number 11 of 2016 concerning tax amnesty. In addition, an analysis of the impact of implementing Tax Amnesty on taxpayer compliance and tax revenue was also carried out at KPP Pratama Jambi Telanaipura.

This research uses a type of qualitative research with a descriptive approach and case study method. The research location is KPP Pratama Jambi. The data used in this study are primary data and secondary data. The primary data in this study came from interviews with informants at KPP Pratama Jambi and taxpayers. While the secondary data used is the results of documentation from KPP Pratama Jambi Telanaipura, legislation, and theories from both books and journals.

The results of this study indicate that the implementation of Tax Amnesty at KPP Pratama Jambi Telanaipura in general is in accordance with Law Number 11 of 2016. However, when viewed from the Adam Smith principle, it is only in accordance with 2 principles, namely equality and efficiency. Meanwhile, the impact of Tax Amnesty on taxpayer compliance and tax revenue cannot help maximize in the short term but has the potential to increase in the long term.
